

Attention:
English and Drama Teachers

Not just any random show.

Don't miss this rare chance to give your students access to this internationally renowned piece.

Sydney Opera House presents, A Real TV production:

Random

Straight from a critically acclaimed season at the World Theatre Festival in Brisbane comes this special must see production that will engage your student's minds and expand their hearts.

Written by one of Britain's most exciting playwrights, debbie tucker green, RANDOM is a powerful one-woman monologue that avoids stereotypes and high drama and focuses on the minutiae of daily life for one family, who suddenly find themselves dealing with the death of a son and brother due to a random act of violence. A vivid, funny and moving account, RANDOM is written entirely in imperfect verse where each image, each detail, shapes the story.

Suitable for students in Years 9- 12, RANDOM is a perfect way to display to English students the power of poetry and verse as a tool for storytelling and for showing Drama Students how to capture an audience as a solo performer (particularly those preparing for the HSC Individual performance) and for Drama students studying issue based theatre.

"...debbie tucker green's beautiful, lyrical play is a masterpiece of writing. It's beat poetry with a Creole voice, rhythms so strong that the words punch and leap from the stage" Katherine Lyall-Watson, ourbrisbane.com
